MEMORIES TO LAST A LIFETIME
Posted by Meli - 2007/12/02 13:26

I've been thinking, that if today was my last day at the forum, what would be the memories I would take with me from here? I 've been counting and counting and counting. But I know somethings would stick and stay with me forever. Do you have any such, to share?

It's just a supposition, a figure of speech. The point is talking about the memories we are accumulating here.

Like I remember when Tonto was cutting grammatical mistakes in Luganda writing, and some people were carrying on with some naughty discussion, and like he didn't care he just kept on pointing out the wrong spellings.

Topic ya Abaddugavu n'Abeeru, eyalimu ensonga yokukomba ebbakuli. There I laughed my head off. I had to get me a new one.

JJ lweyakuba enduulu nga Kalibattanya bayomba ne Mugisha. That was real drama! Ate Luutu26 bweyajja nagamba nti binyuma tubaleke bayombe!

Here I went to my first internet party, when Kalibattanya was welcoming Tonto from home. And all the birthday parties were great, I could feel the kikiri here in my chair where I work in my lonely corner.

I think I'm the first woman to be given a red card. Luutu26 I think was the first, and then Kamikatono. I'm almost sure JJ is next. Then Xaza.

As I said, the list goes on and on...

SOMETHING FOR ME DEFINATELY IS:TO ADMIT THAT YOU LADIES PROVE TO BE THE STRONGER SEX THAN MEN ON CONNECT UGANDA FORUM.

NONE OF US GUYS HAS MADE 1000 POSTS YET.I BET NEXT YEAR WE GUYS HAVE TO WORK HARDER.

ARE WE STARTING THE FORUMS A FRESH JANUARY 01 2008 TO FEEL THE FRESHNESS OF THE YEAR?

ANY SUPPORTERS ON THIS AND DO WE NEED TO VOTE IT TOO?
