Thanks for playing this song ...oh my God i do cry tears of Joy because i am sure this was an ice breaker to the world as an awareness about HIV in Uganda. After Lutaaya's death, my brother was the first closet relative i lost to this disease.

Now look how far we have come with overcoming this parasitic virus....people who accept treatment are thriving and able to live longer.

I have news for you, take care of yourselves always. Use protective gear and eat highly nutritious meals when you can afford one. Choose your category and be real to yourself!

WE ALL NEED TLC!
