What do you have to say about the overall choice of music on the CU Radio, the DJ's presentation, the advertisements and all. Be frank, because this thread is for making our this corner the best it can be.

Maybe we need a little help from the Wikipedia as concerns what an Internet radio is about.

Internet radio (aka e-Radio) is an audio broadcasting service transmitted via the Internet. Broadcasting on the Internet is usually referred to as webcasting since it is not transmitted broadly through wireless means but is delivered over the World Wide Web. The term "e-Radio" suggests a streaming medium that presents listeners with a continuous stream of audio to which they have no control much like traditional broadcast media. It is not synonymous with podcasting which involves downloading. Nor does e-Radio suggest "on-demand" file serving. Many Internet "radio stations" are associated with a corresponding traditional "terrestrial" radio station or radio network. Internet-only radio stations are usually independent of such associations.

Internet radio "stations" are usually accessible from anywhere in the world—for example, to listen to an Australian station from Europe or America. This makes it a popular service for expatriates and for listeners with interests not adequately served by local radio stations (such as progressive rock, ambient music, anime themed music, classical music, 24-hour stand up comedy, and others). Some Internet radio services offer news, sports, talkback, and various genres of music—everything that is on the radio station being simulcast over the internet with a netcast stream.

Most on-air stations broadcast the same commercial advertisements on their internet radio players. The costs of royalties and delivery are covered by the advertiser's payment to the station. Others which have no advertisements, like the BBC, simply send out their stream. The BBC is funded by a Television license, paid by UK television viewers. It is currently looking at methods of charging international users of its content through its commercial arm, BBC Worldwide.

Other stations and shows charge a subscription monthly fee or a direct per-program fee for the internet radio broadcast.

How To Get Your Music Played On Commercial Radio, Part #1

by Bryan Farrish

Sep 18, 2002, 16:11

©2002 Bryan Farrish. ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.

Before we jump into more advanced topics relating to radio promotion, let's make sure some basics are understood first...

DISC JOCKEY: He/she is also known as a DJ, the talent, airstaff, or jock.

SPECIALTY-SHOW OR MIXSHOW HOST: Does a one or two-hour show, usually on the weekend or late at night, using music that may not be suitable for regular airplay (rotation).

MUSIC DIRECTOR: Handles most of the telephone calls from record companies and indie promoters; opens most of the mail from record companies.

PROGRAM DIRECTOR: Decides who and what goes on-air.

PUBLICITY DIRECTOR: Decides what free-mentions will be given, sometimes within special show-segments designed to highlight local activities.

SALESPERSON: Also known as an AE (account executive) or rep (representative); works with local and national companies attempting to get them to advertise on the station.

GENERAL MANAGER: Oversees programming, talent, sales, news and engineering. Very often, the GM comes from a sales background.

WHO DECIDES ON AIRPLAY: On commercial stations, the program director (PD) is the person who decides which artists gets played and how much they get (i.e., the amount of "rotation" or number of "spins".) If someone other than the PD tells you that your CD is playing, then you may not be getting accurate information. The music director (MD) does provide input to the PD, but the DJs generally do not. Thus, calling and talking to a DJ on-the-air is of no use. As for specialty shows and mixshows, the individual hosts do pick their own music, but just for their one or two-hour show that airs usually late at night. (These shows are sometimes called "new music" or "test" or "indie" shows.)

P1, P2, P3. These are the sizes of the audiences of a station.

STATION REVENUE. Stations make money with one thing...advertising. Advertising is when a company pays the station to create and air a commercial which advertises the company's product. This is why the station was built, why it operates, and why the station employees get up and go to work each day. A commercial station is in the advertising business...it is NOT in the music business. Its job is to accumulate listeners, and then sell these listeners to advertisers. It makes no money when you sell your CD, and it makes no money when it plays your CD. As a matter of fact, it actually PAYS money to play your CD, through BMI etc. (albeit, very little.) So it all boils down to advertising... the more listeners (ratings) a station has, the more advertisers pay to advertise. Note: 80% of a station's advertisers are in the same city that the station is in (i.e., they are "local").

THE WEB. Still a troublesome novelty to most stations, the web is certainly gaining in importance. Commercial stations use their sites to get listeners to stick around long enough.

I don't know if our CU radio has personnel for all this, but I thought we could help in gauging how we see or rather hear the final result, so more listeners would join in and stick around long.

Nze nnelarikirira nnyo nga mpulidde Bukonya Brian nga atandika okutuyimbiramu akayimba ka Digida digida digida aka Ragga Dee, nga ntya engeri gyagenda okutuukamu wali ku "Sabagamba nti ngenda kubagaala." Era nassa ekikkowe nti eehhuu, bweyabimaliriza ga agamba nti nga ekimuli.... namalira awo. Mu butuufu oluyimba lwa Ragga Dee luno si lubi nnyo. Naye, mu kuwagira ekirowozo kya Kaliba, ndowooza waliwo ezeetaaga program eri special, abazadde nebajjawo abaana. Ate abaana baffe tetugenda netubegoomeza ffe ffenyini. Songa kati kiyamba abaana abayiga oluganda okubeera ne radio nga eno. Obateeka okwo nebawulira ate nebakola ne practice.

Mpozzi nekirala kyendowooza, nti buli radio station, eri commercial mu ngeri emu oba endala. Kubanga waliwo expences zokugiddukanya. Naddala bwetuba twagala more programs ndowoza tulina okwetegeka okulaba how to finance it. Kino kyateseebwako dda, naye tekigaana kukikumira mu ddiro engeri gyetutakikutulanga, nga ne radio bweliwo, lunaba olwo netukitukiriza.

Commercial broadcasting is the practice of broadcasting for profit. This is normally achieved by interrupting normal programming to air advertisements, also commonly called "commercials" in this context. It usually exists alongside public broadcasting where programming is largely funded by broadcast receiver licences, public donations, or government grants.

In an hour of broadcast time on a commercial broadcast outlet, typically ten to twenty minutes are devoted to advertising. Advertisers pay a certain amount of money to air their commercials, usually based upon the popularity or ratings of a station or network. Commercial broadcasting also has considerable overlap with pay services such as cable television, cable radio, satellite television and satellite radio; though such services are generally partially or wholly paid for by local
