Get valentine love in the chat room

Thursday, 7th February, 2008 E-mail article Print article

It is about time to give your chatroom love a rose

THE Internet is fast changing the way we find love in Uganda, totally redefining conventional and traditional ways of dating. If you are the busy type, love could only be a computer click away this Valentine's Day. Simon Ocen examines the new phenomenon of finding love on the Internet.

Much as we all have to work, we also need time off for leisure.

This valentine, if you find yourself hanging out alone in want of company, simply log on to the Internet, click on google search and type in chat room and then you will find a myriad of equally interesting people to chat with.

The vast class of chat rooms include; student chat rooms, business chat rooms, teenage chat rooms, adult chat rooms, christian chat rooms, politics chat rooms and sports chat rooms and the most sought after is the singles chat room.

Chat rooms are the Internet's third most used application behind e-mail and the web, with over ten million people chatting daily.

With singles chat rooms you could find yourself a partner. Enter the chat room and draw out your best lines.

But with the chat room, the rule is never give up until you get what you want.

Chat rooms are good confidence boosters and an alternative to having your name, e-mail and phone number. They are private as you pick your username. You will meet people from different tribes; some you will make friends with, others dislike and one or more you get infatuated with.

Once you meet this person you are infatuated with, one thing leads to another.

If you are so much into each other; at this point the forces of traditional old fashioned dating set in, you get to exchange e-mails and later possibly pictures.

If you both like what you see, then you can exchange phone numbers: at this point you start serious dating. I sampled a few chat rooms which include; Friend Finder. Com, Community Person.Com and many others.

Singles chat rooms are extremely addictive once you get hooked, it is like nicotine to a smoker.

When I logged onto Friend Finder.Com and two other chat rooms for one week at random times of the day; I discovered that the same user names appeared in the chat rooms about 80% of the time.

These users could easily identify a new user since they are one big family divided into cliques. For them to let you into their inner circle, you have to either use a female user name or a male, with a catch user name say "mazongoto".

The users in Find a Friend.com are always warm to new users, shun any user of profane language and are resident in Uganda.

That is not to mention the deception that goes in there. A friend swears he will never dare log into a chat room again; he bitterly asserts that this girl made him a believer she had the most exquisite features and got him racking his brains out; he visualised a picture of American R&B star Beyonce or model Tyra Banks after bowing to her endless doses of reassurances.

However, upon meeting her, she looked like Martin Lawrence playing big mama in 'Big Mama's House'. This revelation sent me laughing to stitches like a horde of excited hyenas.

But, like anything else in life, chat rooms have their shortcomings. Most chat rooms are not moderated so profane language is used.

They are a source of pedophiles who disguise themselves as children, lure children to meet them and often sexually abuse them.

Chat rooms in general, are fun, interactive and sociable but the singles one's are not for the faint hearted.

This one goes to the hopefuls

<http://www.connectuganda.com/images/fbfiles/images/images-9be58197a5e2c527ce7aa96de3dc949f.jpg> LOVE'S ABOUT TO CHANGE MY HEART

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=vrgaFnUHiSc>

I never needed someone
'cos I always led a life of my own never waited for the ring of the 'phone never had anyone here
when I got home
but love's about to change my heart

I'm waiting for the doorbell to chime
when I always lived one day at a time
I thought that I was getting on fine never felt I was alone
'til you change your mind
love's about to change my heart

Could a day be so long when I always felt secure and so strong and all the time as I went along never thought I would desire so much to belong
love's about to change my heart
love's about to change my heart, ooh

Never ever thought the sky was so blue never ever thought I'd feel so new always thought I'd know what to do but I guess I wasn't counting on you

What did I know
I always felt so much on control
I thought I'd make it all on my own never thought I would forget all I have known
love's about to change my heart

love's about to change my heart
love's about to change, change, change
my heart...

Will you be my Valentine?

I know that I am yours.

You are like a tossing sea

And I am like your shores.

You are like an endless wave

And I your waiting sand.

And I will wait forever as

You come and smooth my hand.

I will wait forever, yet

You are a part of me.

I hold you in my arms, while you

Come to me endlessly.

Will you be my Valentine?

I know that I am yours.

I love you with a love that yearns

To be your golden shores.

Oprah's show - Valentine's Day 2007.

http://www.connectuganda.com/images/fbfiles/images/20070214_109_350x263.jpg

When Emmanuel was 8 years old, civil war broke out in his home country of Sudan. When his village was invaded and soldiers burned his home, Emmanuel escaped into the forest. All alone, Emmanuel hid for 13 days, surviving on wild fruits and stagnant rainwater. Fleeing the rebel soldiers, he joined 26,000 other desperate children—now known as the "lost boys." These children wandered for three months, walking 1,000 miles across the desert in search of safety.

Eventually, Emmanuel found his way to a refugee camp in Kenya, but suffered from nightmares of what he'd seen. "I'd seen friends shot right on the spot, friends being eaten by lions and hyenas," he says.

Then, in 1998, Emmanuel met a girl named Veronica in the Kenyan camp. "I was captivated and all I wanted to do is just stand there and just watch," he says. Emmanuel only spoke with Veronica for a moment before asking a man with a camera, who happened to be nearby, to take their picture. (Above: Veronica is second from left. Emmanuel is on the far right.) To Emmanuel's joy, the photographer actually returned to the camp and gave him the picture for free.

"Something inside of me just kept telling me, you better keep this picture. You better keep it. Keep it well." For the next six years, Emmanuel carried that photograph for thousands of miles.

http://www.oprah.com/tows/slide/200702/20070214/slide_20070214_350_108.jhtml

Emmanuel yagenda mu America, ne Veronica mu Canada, basisinkana, bafumbiriganwa era bazaala. Wabula nze ensonga endesezza ka piece kano, kwekuba nti bano abantu bayimiriira nebalaba empologoma nga zirya bakwano baabwe, nebalaba nga zikkuse ne hyena neziyingirawo nazo nezirya. Kuba Hyena teyigga muntu. Kyokka nga tewali mpologoma ndala njala, kubalya bbo. This is so funny!!! Kale story za ba Africa ezimu zi sambajja logic yonna, singa bannaffe abaziwulira baali bagezaako katonu okulowooza ku bibanyubizubwa.
