

---

Every one should indeed read this one.....

Posted by ericmugisha07 - 2007/10/12 22:14

---

The book is entitled "The meaning of life / A.J. Ayer." It is great for all of us.

Check it out banywanyani...

=====

Re:Every one should indeed read this one.....

Posted by Meli - 2007/10/13 12:50

---

Eric the point here is, tell us what it's about, before you send us to go spend our fortunes to buy it!!

=====

Re:Every one should indeed read this one.....

Posted by ericmugisha07 - 2007/10/13 23:19

---

Nedda Sebbo Meli. Nze nga Mugisha, nkutellayo Title. Okujjako nga ongaamba nti Title tojitegela, Ate nga title bwoba tojitegela, kitegeza okugula akatabo kijja kuba tekilina mugaso jooli. Nze nsubila title eyo yenyini elina okukuwa all the motivation you need to spend cash to buy the book.

=====

Re:Every one should indeed read this one.....

Posted by The Ugandan... - 2008/06/05 09:57

---

Before you read this book please look up the author.

He was an atheist philosopher who as it turned out, changed his mind (i.e. believed in a creator and life after death) after a near death experience but didn't have the guts to let his followers know. His doctor revealed this after his death.

But he was a brilliant and "dangerous" philosopher.

=====

Re:Every one should indeed read this one.....

Posted by ukstylish1 - 2008/06/05 23:24

---

Why read a book on atheists when you can read a book that will enlight you on the reality of life, life after death, and the truth about God.

The fact is that we are born and were created for a purpose, that is to worship Allah (God).

Why would such a person have a change of mind from disbelief to believing that there's a Creator, yet he wouldn't advise his followers about his ordeal? Therefore he was wrong, then got convinced about the truth, yet became coward to face his old practices!!!

Surely thats the attitude of many people. They think they know, yet have no idea.

You shouldn't be reading about such people coz its a waste of time. The book people should be reading is the Quran. The Quran tells us mankind that we should worship our Lord, God and to not say things about Him that we are not sure about.

---

Read the book. If you need a copy, contact me at <http://deening.myminaret.com>

=====

Re:Every one should indeed read this one.....

Posted by The Ugandan... - 2008/06/06 05:45

---

ukstylish1 wrote:

Why read a book on atheists when you can read a book that will enlight you on the reality of life, life after death, and the truth about God.

The fact is that we are born and were created for a purpose, that is to worship Allah (God).

Why would such a person have a change of mind from disbelief to believing that there's a Creator, yet he wouldn't advise his followers about his ordeal? Therefore he was wrong, then got convinced about the truth, yet became coward to face his old practices!!!

Surely thats the attitude of many people. They think they know, yet have no idea.

You shouldn't be reading about such people coz its a waste of time. The book people should be reading is the Quran. The Quran tells us mankind that we should worship our Lord, God and to not say things about Him that we are not sure about.

Read the book. If you need a copy, contact me at <http://deening.myminaret.com>:ohmy: :ohmy: Don't get me started with these books and religions that foreigners came carrying in one hand and problems in the other. I recommend you read the Ayer's books. He asked questions that made you think. Which is the idea behind philosophy. One Jesuit scholar called him ""the most dangerous man in Oxford University". Many religions, fail to answer these basic questions. But to his credit, unlike many of us, he was willing to change, whenever he found satisfactory answers.

First, I have to clarify something. A J. Ayer was igtheist/ignostic. (i.e. to him you have to define the word GOD before you try to find out whether God exists or not. It's a waste of time to do otherwise.) For most of his life that definition was never satisfactorily made. Those are his ideas not mine or my beliefs either.. He also didn't believe in life after death after all how can one have feelings when they die? In short, for him there was no God, no after life.

But when his heart stopped for 4minutes (he choked on food) and he experienced a near death experience (NDE) he changed his mind and spoke about his experiences. He now felt there was life after death but still didn't go as far as publicly stating there was a God. His doctor much later claimed that "When Ayer recovered, he told me 'he saw the Supreme Being.'" This stunned a lot of people. It could very well be that the good doctor was lying. Who knows. The important thing is that he asked brilliant questions that should inspire everyone to ask similar questions. If our forefathers had asked those questions maybe the useless religious wars in Buganda, not to mention worldwide, would not have occurred.

Read the book, but keep in mind the context and history of what you are reading then make up your own mind.

=====

---

Re:Every one should indeed read this one.....

Posted by ukstylish1 - 2008/06/07 00:33

---

Say: "Is it someone other than Allah (God) that you order me to worship, O you ignorant ones?" QURAN (Az Zumar 39:64

You know, ignorance besides disobedience, and uncompliance to believe in what has been revealed from God (Quran), and bigheadedness, are some of the main reasons why many of men and women face eternity in a scorching fire, lined up in columns, being repeatedly tormented with no end in sight.

Now how can you tell some one's ignorant and big headed? First, their attitude when responding.

You say you don't want me to get you started. And you refute bluntly by attempting to say that the religion I'm promoting is false. Now you're opinionated and every one's free to choose their paths.

But want to ask you; in your knowledge, and in all your experience on this earth, do you claim to know better than He who created you?

And where you created to read a book about atheists? Did atheists create you? Do they have any parts in providing for your needs? Do you pray to them and they answer you? And judging on the story of that character you propose, isn't he one who leaves his followers in the dark, while he himself attains spiritual enlightenment? And do you take inspiration from such?

Or do you claim to think because of the knowledge you've gained in your studies and experience over your entire life makes you one who knows the secrets of the unseen and the universe? And here I am getting you started!! You wanted me to get you started, and I am getting you started. Bring on your so called philosophies..I'll bring on the best of mine, and let the forum members judge in who's REALLY ignorant.

GET STARTED

=====