
Mambwira

Mambwira was a prisoner. He very much wanted to come out of prison that he asked his wife to sleep with his friend in order that he can give the chief prison officer money to him out. At first she refused but later he convinced her an everlasting love once he comes out of prison. She succumbed and after 2 months he was released. After that she told him that though he was released she had just convinced him and not slept with him. Nalubega missed her periods later that week and soon Mambwira found out she was pregnant. Nalubega had aborted once and nearly died. She could not contemplate aborting.

Fellow connectors esp. Ssenga JJ how would you advise this family to stay intact?

In the first place omusajja yali akirizza mukyala we "okwenda" wadde omukyala yakikola naye n'alimba i wd say she was kind of protecting da guyz feelings agende okuva mu prison nga akyalimu akamwagala.

so in dat case i wd suggest she tells the man the truth den keep da baby,mr shd forgive and life goes on!Afterall i wd say da woman did it bse of da hubby!

Dats wat i wd say in such a case.

Akuume!

Wow love huh? This unselfish bastard (oops forgive the french) deserves to stay in prison for ever. There is a procedure called borrowing and paying back with interest. And if this guy was really his friend then he would have suggested that option. Sounds to me like his friend has been dying to sleep with this woman.

Keeping the family intact huh? They both lost it. Their family disintegrated when the man suggested his wife sleeps with his friend and the wife going through with the stupid idea. How disgusting! They are better off apart.

I don't know about her, but your husband asking you to sleep with another man, I would not want to be with him, I would ask for a divorce.

So sad that now another unborn being is involved in this mess. The last thing she needs to do is bring another being into the world not with such lousy ideals.
